

Italian Air Force confirmed as Military Patron

Electronic Warfare Europe, May 10-11 2012, Rome

Shephard Group and the Association of Old Crows (AoC) are delighted to announce today that the Italian Air Force will be the 2012 military patron when EW Europe comes to Rome. This support will ensure a substantial number of key Italian military, government and research staff will be attending the event. Shephard and the AoC will also be working with the Italian Air Force on a number of key international delegation invitations.

The Chief of Staff of the Italian Air Force will keynote the event and welcomes delegates to Rome. He said today “I’m keen to announce that the Italian Air Force will be the military patron of the 2012 EW Europe Conference. We look forward by the opportunity that Shephard Group and the AOCi is providing to the global EW community to explore electronic warfare and broader spectrum warfare issues critical to the national security of the European region. This symposium will strive to bring regional EW concerns and capabilities to the forefront of discussion in EW communities of interest around the world”

Alexander Giles, CEO, Shephard Group commented, “It’s an indication of the importance that this event has within the EW community that the Chief of Staff of the Italian Air Force is willing to give of his time in this way. We are grateful to him and his staff and we are looking forward to a fantastic event in Rome next year.”

In 2011 EW Europe attracted 660 delegates and 58 exhibitors from 40 countries. It is the largest EW conference and exhibition in Europe and the only one organized in association with the AoC, the international EW trade association.
