

Shephard Media and AUVS-Australia to partner on Unmanned Vehicles Pacific conference and exhibition

Shephard Media and AUVS-Australia have agreed to jointly organise the 2012 UV Pacific conference, taking place for the fifth time in Queensland, Australia next May 23-24.

Held in conjunction with Heli Pacific the combined events attract audiences of over 600, drawn from the military, government, industry and academic institutions from Australia and the wider region. The exhibition showcases solutions and systems on the cutting edge of unmanned technology and the conference content reflects this fast growing and exciting sector.

Alexander Giles, CEO of Shephard Media said, "It is an enormous pleasure to welcome AUVS-Australia as our content partner for our 2012 conference. AUVS-Australia is rightly regarded as the organisation of choice for all those interested in the UV sector in this region and I look forward to welcoming many of their rapidly growing membership to the event."

Peggy MacTavish, Executive Director, AUVS-Australia comments, "As AUVS-Australia grows and supports the pillars (industry, academia & government) of unmanned systems we look forward to working with Shephard Media. The Heli Pacific Conference will increase our Members global awareness and reach in this sector."